

Jostens Commitment

We take great care in passionately helping people express themselves, celebrate experiences and traditions, recognize achievements and share stories.

It is within this framework that Jostens conducts all business based on health, safety, respect for the environment and commitment to the communities in which we work.

Environmental Sustainability

Jostens supports environmental sustainability through the following organizations:

- The Green Belt Movement
- The Nature Conservancy

Education

Jostens is a supporter of educational organizations through annual membership including:

Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education (AASHE)
Journalism Education Association (JEA)
National Association of Black School Educators National Conference (NABSE)
National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP)

Community

For more than 25 years, the Jostens' Foundation has supported organizations in their work to create strong communities and healthy families and children. For information, go online at www.jostens.com/community.
